RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA

TUESDAY.....NOVEMBER 13, 1877.

The Position of Hayes.

A telegram informs us that Conkling will insist upon the Senate compelling President Hayes to adhere to his own civil service rules and remove no one without cause. The Committee on Commerce will ask for the reasons why Collector Arthur and Naval Officer Cornell of New York, and Collector Jones of Chicago were suspended. The President is not compelled, under any law or precedent, to answer such an inquiry, but it is expected that he will do so, and the reply will probably be of an interesting character. Just now the President is meeting with concentrated opposition of incipient hostility to his administration. He who was at first presumed to be a man of negative goodness and of small executive ability surprises the nation by his quiet tact and magnetic unifying power. In a revolutionary government like France or a cabinet government like England when the occasion requires marked administrative ability and respectful obedience to the policy of the ruler or premier, he who leads the nation at such a time must possess rare tact, a peculiar fitness for his position. President Hayes must now proceed with no faltering step nor exhibit the least inability to command the situation. Long use of power and the practcal application of the doctrine, to the victors belong the spoils; a partial exhibit of the "cohesive power of public plunder," has made the dominant party clamorous for office, and envious of all political favors. The President having in view the public good, must constantly repress the annoying element of antagonism to an able, conservative administration. The present status of national affairs in the United States does not require concerted party action. In fact, both parties in Congress are much divided in opinion on questions of public interest; nor is there occasion for exhibition of party fealty on questions of resumption, civil service reform, the tariff, subsidies, the standard of the army and navy, foreign relations, labor moves, etc.; hence, at this time, one who by the uniqueness of his election is happily freed from political obligation, may with propriety shake off the trammels of party leadership with the single purpose of serving his country had best pursue an independent course which shall meet with the approval of unpartizan statesmen and the body of the people. President Hayes, aware of the reverential element in every government which is always to be found more or less predominant in the masses, has, by "junketing with his Secretary" among the people, brought that important element to bear in his favor, while it makes cautious the action of those who recognize its power quite as much as they envy those to whom it is given, or despise its crude but puissant influence in an enlightened nation. The President therefore has the people with him; he has a majority with him in both Houses of Congress and if he chooses can snap his finger under the chronic growler Conkling's nose, or tell the friends of the Pennsylvania leader that he will not appoint Simon Cameron to the English mission, or anywhere else. Hayes in not a great man, but he has done more than Grant ever dared to do. The circumstances are, however, entirely different; they are more critical, and we watch his public doings with mingled hope and fear—hope that he may be able to carry out his civil service order, his conciliation policy, and resist the consummate intrigues of politicians; fears that not being a Napoleon, an executive statesman, the product of an age, he may even in the hour of Victory, by an incautious act, impair the influence of what he would accomplish, if not fail in his high purpose. We stand by the President and trust to the success of his administration.

Gen. O. H. LaGrange, for a number of years Superintendent of the U. S. Mint at San Francisco, has tendered his resignation, and the same has been accepted by the President. LaGrange's resignation is to take effect Dec. 31st. His successor has not been determined upon. Clayton and Dodge have both been mentioned for the position. The government, by the resignation of Gen. LaGrange, will lose the services of an honest, capable official, and one whose social standing is much superior to that of his traducers.

The Ward Reflex does not admire Governor Bradley as a candidate for Senator.

The Democratic papers of Nevada have all published correspondence favoring the nomination of J. C. Hagerman for Governor.

The Virginia Chronicle publishes a report that a horse has been encountered on the 1900 level of the Ophir. The Chronicle thinks the report is a bear movement.

The Eureka Sentinel concludes a history of Sam Davis in this manner: "He is talented, genial and companionable, and the laziest man that ever wielded a Faber."

Rich developments have been made in the mines in Western Nye county. A mill has just been started at Ellsworth, and is now pounding away on ore worth $300 per ton.

The Carson Tribune says that C. S. Varian is prominently mentioned as a candidate for Congressman. The Tribune has no right to drag men before the public in this indiscriminate way. We do not believe that Mr. Varian ever thought of being a candidate.

A man by the name of McCormick was thrown from a loaded wagon near Hamilton on Thursday last. The wheels passed over his breast, inflicting injuries from which he died Saturday morning. Deceased was a partner of O. M. Converse and had a large band of sheep grazing in White Pine county.

ALFALFA.—The Tybo Sun, edited by W. B. Taylor, formerly of Elko, calls the attention of its readers to alfalfa raising on sage brush lands, claiming that it is not only one of the most prolific of the grasses cultivated, but acknowledged to be the most nutrituous and profitable, for either the market or for fattening stock, that is grown. Irrigation, says the Sun, is the one thing needful and where water can be had, alfalfa will grow and thrive, year after year, as no other grass will in Nevada, producing, not infrequently, three and four crops a season. In California large fields are cultivated for the raising and fattening of hogs, it having been demonstrated that pork produced from alfalfa is almost, if not quite, as good as that raised on grain, and then its great productiveness enables the farmer to keep a much larger number of hogs on hand than he otherwise could do did he depend for food upon the old sources of supply—the stubble-field and the natural grasses. We believe to-day, that if a man with small means would sow three ten-acre fields with alfalfa, so that he could change his stock from one field to another as fed off, and devote his whole time and attention to the raising of pork for the mining camps of the country, that in the next ten years (a short time in a man's life) he would accumulate more real wealth than could be done with five times the capital invested in any other legitimate business. Here is a field of labor that calls only for a small investment, but promises well in fat returns.

Washoe farmers take notice.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is to be favored with the views of Messrs. Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon and C. P. Huntington on the question of a sinking fund, by which to repay the money loaned the Pacific railroads by the government. A little shrewdness, this. Will the buttered side appear or desirable information be obtained?

Henry Gorham, a Utah Mormon, undertook to chastise his six wives with a horsewhip for disobedience. He had previously punished them singly many times, and had grown arrogant; but this time he had overrated his power. The six wives joined hands, or fists, and before Gorham escaped from them he was so badly scratched, bruised, and bitten that his recovery was for a time doubtful.

The blooded negroes of Washington are organizing a new party upon the platform of "justice and recognition according to merit." The organization is called "The Invincibles." It should be a policy of the Government to discourage such organizations. Unity is strength even in an organization of doubtful utility. Government "strategy, my boy" should bear upon all such political associations as the above.

The Silver Question.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—While the ultimate fate of Bland's silver bill is by no means certain, some of those who voted for it on Monday are ashamed of their hasty action, and want the bill amended so as to make a charge for coinage and a reasonable limit to the amounts for which it shall be legal tender. As the bill stands it gives any holder of silver bullion the right to take it to mints and have it coined free of expense. It is now urged that the only persons who will be benefited by such a provision will be the holders of silver bullion at the time it goes upon the statute book, the producers of it and those people in Europe and elsewhere who have large quantities to sell. An amendment to change this effect appears likely to be made in the Senate and accepted by the House.

The Senate finance committee is so evenly balanced on the silver question that prompt action is improbable. Secretary Sherman's articles in the North American Review, criticising the series of essays on resumption written by McCulloch, W. D. Kelley, David Wells, Ewing and others, has appeared. The Secretary stands by the recent resumption law, and steadfastly deprecates any attempt to replace it by new methods at this stage of the question. If the question were reopened, all the winds of controversy would be let loose and practical resumption would be lost in the clash of conflicting opinion. He contends that far from injuriously affecting the property of the people, as the advocates of paper money assert, the restoration of sound currency is essential to prosperity. Sherman has no doubt of the success of resumption. Under the existing law the progress is so steady that our paper currency will be at par in advance of the prescribed date. He has no objection to the funding of surplus greenbacks in four per cent. bonds, but evidently has no faith that Congress can be prevailed on to authorize it. The unflinching manner in which he stands by the resumption act suggests that any attempt by Congress to repeal or impair it would be vetoed by the President. On the silver question, he says: "The silver question, entirely within the power of Congress, may be made a most essential aid to resumption, if confined either to the amount or mode of its issue or in its legal tender quality. If issued without limit or demand of depositors of silver bullion it is the substitution of a single silver standard, instead of a gold standard. Whatever decision Congress may arrive at on this question, the resumption law must stand to prevent our paper money from falling below the specie standard fixed by Congress. At present paper money is worth more than silver because the market value of silver bullion is depreciated. The expectation of the redemption of our paper money in gold with our demonstrated ability to do so, has brought it to nearly the standard of gold. If silver should alone be adopted as the standard the paper will fall even below that standard unless resumption in silver is provided by law. As the Bland bill provides for its unlimited issue and legal tender power, necessarily, then, the Secretary must oppose it and the President is unlikely to approve it without material modification." The Democratic opponents of the measure cite with satisfaction the New York World's designation of it as the "Bland swindle," and his argument in favor of it as words of knavery and folly.

Governor Rice of Massachusetts employs a gentle sarcasm in speaking of the journals of his native land. He was asked, while reading his newspaper, the other morning: "Do you always read the newspapers before you go down town in the morning?" And he answered: "Why, of course I do. How else should I know how to go down town? How should I know what kind of a man I am this morning?"

Good gracious! Nobody has thought of Saylor for Senator.

Tow Ewing is the plumed Knight of the financial heretics; but the plumed Knights have not always won the prizes.

Recent developments lead to the reasonable conclusion that the talk about resurrecting Rise-Up William Allen again is no joke. — Columbus Journal.

Al. Dudley was a prominent lawyer in old Tuolumne. He was employed to defend a client for stealing a hog—jury trial. Dudley made an eloquent and successful plea. The man was acquitted. He was grateful, but had no money. "How can I ever repay you, Mr. Dudley; I havn't a cent. Accept my thanks."

"Thanks be d——d!" said Al. "Send me a side of the pork."—Sam. Davis.

Wife—"Well Jones, judging from your breath, I can't really tell whether you have been drinking whisky, or whether you have been swimming in it." Husband (reproachfully): "Hic—Hannah, don't you—hic—love me enough to gimme—hic—the benefit of the doubt?"

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe. The State of Nevada sends to Hill & Oakes, Anselmo Torrelli, Luiga Dellapiga, Albert Mau, G. W. Mapes and B. F. Sheldon, greeting:

You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendants by A. D. Sisson, W. W. Wallace and Clark Crocker, copartners, under name of Sisson, Wallace & Co., as plaintiffs, in the District Court of the Second Judicial District, in and for the county of Washoe, State of Nevada, and answer the complaint therein, within ten days after the service on you of this Summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover $828.78, with interest, all in U. S. gold coin, from defendants, Hill & Oakes, alleged to be due for lumber and material furnished them by the Reno Lumber Company, and to foreclose and determine a mechanics lien, claimed against lots one and two in block P, on the corner of Virginia and Second streets, in the town of Reno, county of Washoe, State of Nevada, and the frame buildings thereon. Plaintiffs allege an assignment of said defendants' lien to plaintiffs, that defendants Torrelli, Dellapiga, Mau, Mapes and Sheldon, have, or claim to have, some interest in the property and that the materials furnished for the construction of the buildings aforesaid, and with the knowledge of the defendants last named, and their failure to give notice in writing by posting within three days after obtaining knowledge that they would not be responsible for such materials. Plaintiff prays judgment of foreclosure and for personal judgment against Hill & Oakes; all of which will more fully appear from the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said court at Reno, in said county. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiffs will apply to the court for the relief demanded.

SEAL

In testimony whereof, I, P. B. Comstock, have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court, this 25th day of July, A. D. 1877. P. B. COMSTOCK, Clerk.

RENO EVENING GAZETTE.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

That Challenge.

Elsewhere will be found a challenge of one James O'Donnell, to any baritone singer in the "outlines of Reno." Mr. O'Donnell entered this office late on Sunday evening with his novel challenge written out, and stated that although looking rough he was a lark on the high ones, and he wished to turn an honest penny by putting to rout any baritone of our county. We promised to assist in the laudable enterprise without money and without price. Accordingly we started out to find a man who could trill out and pirouette on the vocal ladder. Sol. Geller was not in town or we should have had a customer at once. Tom Hymers said that he was sorry opera was shut out, he would just give him a little bit of opera, but that he supposed most any man could get away with him on common ditties, besides he wanted to save his voice for the eastern trip. M. J. Smith said he'd a good notion to try O'Donnell a clatter, and, calling for a clove, cleared his throat out and began to practice. They fired Smith out and forbid him the house. If you never heard Smith sing "The Days of '49," it sounds like a devil's fiddle in distress. Beck and Higgins met last night to practice for the match, and the Journal reports it this morning under the head of "Row in Chinatown." We hope the match may be disposed of soon, as there are many good families which will move out of town unless these old baritones can be gagged or defeated.

Jottings.

Gen. C. C. Batterman and W. S. Wood were passengers on the lightning last night.

Rain and shine, icicles and perspiration. What sort of weather is this?

J. W. Maddrill, of the Journal, is a happy parient.

And now, says Mrs. Juddles, they've found a horse in the Ophir. Ain't it a wonder the blasts didn't hurt him?

Mat. Davis and Dan. Dennison are in Virginia with Tom Morgan and Muggins.

Amos Alt has started a new saloon at Cookes' well, Virginia street.

The party who have been engaged in surveying the direct route to Virginia have arrived in town.

Ophir fell to 26 to-day and Alta rose to 14¼. A horse caused the decline in the first. Struck rich ore, the cause of the advance in the latter. Others don't know but what it is a pool on those two stocks.

The temperance meeting drew a good house last night and elicited considerable enthusiasm on the subject. It is presumed that the reformers will lash the intemperate a few nights hence.

Messages remain uncalled for at the W. U. office for Sig. Giovanni Pedroncelli, W. W. Morton and John Lecy.

FAVORABLE SIGN.—A good sign of a feeling of permanency on the part of our citizens is manifested by the fact that many of them are digging wells in their yards and making many other lasting improvements; while many entirely new and substantial buildings are being erected—some of them by our leading business men, and others by new comers. And while we are speaking of well digging, we think that it is safe to assert that Reno can boast the purest and coldest well water of any town on the Pacific Coast, if not in the world; and this to be obtained at depths varying from eighteen feet, near the river, to forty feet at the foot of the hills, a distance of three-quarters of a mile at the narrowest part.

A CHALLENGE.—We have received the following communication, which explains itself:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EVENING GAZETTE—Sir: I have the honor most respectfully to request that you place in the columns of your valuable paper the following, that I, James O'Donnell, do hereby challenge any baritone singer in Reno or its outlines, for the championship of Nevada. This challenge does not include opera. The contest to come off at the theatre next Saturday evening.

The bombardment of the Second street dance house was continued last night with good results. The garrison still maintains its position and it is difficult to say when the siege will be raised.

DIED.—Again as in a dream do we behold the handiwork of death. We have gazed upon the lifeless form of our young friend, W. McBride. There is an awful stillness in the room and we go upon the street, but we have not for a moment half realized that he who was but a few days ago at his place of business is now dead. No; we cannot comprehend it. The life has fled, the spirit that once gave animation to the eye and tongue has gone, but these are external facts to us, and so resemble something revealed in a trance, that were we to meet him a few hours hence, our astonishment would not be as great as it would be, did we inwardly and clearly know that the young man of 31 Summers was dead. Winchester McBride, was a native of Corydon, Ind. He had been in town but a few months, yet in this short time he had gained many good friends. To-morrow, at 3 o'clock P. M., his body will be laid away to rest, "earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust." The curtain falls and the light of a life has faded from view.

EXTREMELY OLD WINE.—A Frenchman named Berthelot recently opened a flask of wine more than 1,600 years old. The glass bottle holding the precious liquid was found hermetically sealed in what was a Roman burying place near Arles, France. The wine was of a brownish color, and tasted as if it had been boiled in contact with some fatty substance. Archeologists declare that the peculiarly shaped bottle was made during the period of the first occupation of Gaul by the Romans.

Loafing Around.

They are sitting around upon barrels and chairs,
Discussing their own and their neighbors' affairs,
And the look of content that is seen on each face
Seems to say, I have found my appropriate place.
Sitting around.

In bar-rooms and groceries calmly they sit
And serenely chew borrowed tobacco and spit,
While the stories they tell and the jokes that they crack,
Show their hearts have grown hard and undoubtedly black.
While sitting around.

The "sitter around" is a man of no means,
And his face wouldn't pass for a quart of white beans,
Yet he somehow or other contrives to exist,
And is frequently seen with a drink in his fist;
While sitting around.

The loungers—they toil not, nor yet do they spin,
Unless it be yarns while enjoying their gin;
They are people of leisure, yet often, 'tis true,
They allude to the work they're intending to do,
While sitting around.

They've a habit of talking of other men's wives,
As they whittle up sticks with their horn handled knives.
They're a scaly old set, and wherever you go
You'll find them in groups, or strung out in a row—
Sitting around.

Walking Horses.

Everybody concedes that there is no gait which so greatly adds to the actual value of the horse as a fast walk, and yet it is notorious that there is no gait so little cultivated. Even our agricultural societies, that are supposed to especially foster the improvement of our domestic animals in all useful qualities, persistently ignore this, the most valuable of all gaits in the horse. A premium for the fastest walking horse is very rarely offered, and when there is such a thing, the amount is so insignificant as to attract no attention; while hundreds, and in many cases thousands, of dollars were offered for trials of speed at the faster and less useful gaits.

This is not as it should be. We have racing associations all over the country, which offer enormous purses for trotting and running, thus furnishing abundant stimulus for improvement in that direction and it is the especial provision of our agricultural societies to stimulate improvement in the horse that is really the most valuable for agricultural purposes, and in that gait which is best adapted to the use to which he is put. The walk is the gait which the horse must assume when drawing the plow, the harrow, the reaping machine, or when performing a long journey on the road; and here the superiority of a pair of fast walkers over those of a moping ox-like gait, is apparent. A horse that can walk off on the road at the rate of five miles per hour, and at a correspondingly rapid gait when harnessed to the plow or harrow, is a treasure to the farmer: yet such horses are more rare than 2:30 trotters. There is no reason why this should be the case. The trouble is not so much from luck of capacity for fast walking in most of our horses as it is from a failure to cultivate that gait. The rage among the boys, stable hands, and even staid and sober farmers, is for speed; and as soon as the colt is broken he must be made to trot. He is taught at once to understand that the walk is a gait to be resorted to only when time is a matter of no consequence, and thus many a naturally fast walker becomes, from use, a very slow one.

If as much pains were taken in developing and breeding for increased speed at the walking gait, as is now taken in breeding for trotting, we should soon have very many horses that could walk five miles per hour, and horses that could walk a mile on the road in ten minutes, or six miles per hour, would be as often met with as trotters that can go ten miles an hour for any considerable length of time.

A reader of the Boston Commercial Bulletin asks: "Were you not mistaken when you informed the public, through your paper, that 'Abraham was the first auctioneer when he put Isaac up for sacrifice?' If I remember right some two thousand years previous to that occurence Cain assumed the role of auctioneer when he knocked down Abel.'" The New York Herald has positive information that Eve was the first auctioneer when she put up Adam and sold him with an apple.

WATCHES!! JEWELRY!!
ROMAINE GOLD,
SO EXTENSIVELY WORN IN PARIS, was first discovered in 1870, by the celebrated French chemist, Mons. D. Be Dainge, who manufactured it into jewelry, and for five years sold it to the leading jewelers of Paris for Solid Gold. In 1875, when his secret became known, ten of the manufacturing jewelers established a stock company, with a capital of $10,000,000 for the purpose of manufacturing Romaine Gold Jewelry and Watches. With this immense capital and the aid of improved machinery, they are enabled to produce all the latest patterns of jewelry at less than one-tenth the cost of solid gold, and of a quality and color which makes it impossible even for experts to detect it from the genuine.
We have secured the exclusive agency of the United States and Canada, for the sale of all goods manufactured from this metal, and in order to introduce them in the most speedy manner, have put up assorted sample lots as given below, which we will sell at one-tenth the retail value until January 1st, 1878. DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S
Private Medical Institute.
209, KEARNEY STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.
Established in 1854,
For the Permanent Cure of all Special and Chronic Diseases, as also all Female Complaints and Diseases of the Nervous System.
THE IMMENSE DESTRUCTION OF human life annually from secret and chronic diseases, caused this old and reliable institution to be established, first in Philadelphia, Penn., in 1850, and afterwards in San Francisco, Cal., in 1854, as a private dispensary, in order to afford the afflicted the best medical and surgical treatment for the above and all other affections and complaints. Consultation at the Institute, or by letter, FREE.
To the Afflicted:
Dr. L. J. Czapkay would most respectfully inform the public of the Pacific coast that, at the earnest solicitation of his numerous friends, and hundreds of those unfortunately afflicted with disease, he has reopened his MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE and resumed the practice of his profession. The Doctor would remind all those who are in need of medical aid, that since relinquishing his very extensive and successful practice in San Francisco, he has visited the principal cities in Europe, inspecting diligently the experience of the most learned in the profession, the benefit from which he offers to all in need of his services. Rheumatic affections, chronic catarrh, diseases of the stomach and kidneys, liver complaints, etc., successfully treated. Those who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, physical and mental debility, are assured of a permanent cure. Charges moderate. All communication strictly confidential. Medicines sent by express. Address,
